

A Childs Christmas in Brooklyn

A CHILDS CHRISTMAS IN BROOKLYN is the poetic tale of author Frank Crocittos childhood growing up in Brooklyn in the 1940s. Reminiscent of Dylan Thomas A Childs Christmas in Wales, the book poignantly captures the true spirit of the Christmas season reflected in the traditions of a large Italian-American family and the love and respect that binds it together. Crocittos story begins just prior to Christmas, as the anticipation begins to mount for the big day. The holiday season officially commences as school lets out for the holiday. Snow begins to blanket the streets of Crocittos 81st Street. The colorful house lights are brought out and hung with Grandpa. As Grandma mobilizes her tyrannical reign in the kitchen to prepare for the ultimate holiday meal, there are snowball fights with the gang, and there is the search to find the perfect tree with Mom and Dad. As the family traditions are carried on, the night before Christmas brings a life-changing encounter with Santa Claus. Christmas Day culminates in present-opening, church-going, raucous family bingo games, dancing in the parlor and the profound realization of just how fortunate one boy can be. Grady Kane-Horrigans sepia-toned illustrations are the perfect complement, each one providing an snapshot of Crocittos finely written details: a wreath on frozen fence post, a snake-like tangle of lights, the twinkle in Santas eye. A CHILDS CHRISTMAS IN BROOKLYN brings you into the family, and Crocittos warmhearted Christmas memories of a sweeter, simpler time will resonate with readers of all ages.
