

My Purpose in the Universe: (Search for Truth)

Introduction One day when I was around four years old, I asked my mother where did I come from? She told me to ask my father. I asked my father, he told me while he was in the barn one morning forking the hay stack I was in the hay stack and he found me and took me to my mother. Then I said, If you found me, you are not my real father. Later, I went to my mother and asked her again; she told me I ask too many questions. She said you will find out later in life where you came from. From that day on I never trusted my father to tell me the truth again. As I grew older, everyone I encountered was either a bully, domineering, deceitful, greedy, jealous or selfish not necessary in that order. Sooner or later my all relationships would end. Life to me is the seasons. Infancy, youth, adulthood and the senior season. You live it, then it ends, and it is over. Nothing last forever except the elements (matter), space and time. Once mankind grasp his/her life is a gift from God, our World will change drastically for the betterment of mankind. We would live in peace and happiness our entire lives and continue to search for truth until the end of time. Therlee Gipson
