This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1874 Excerpt: ...(field., T. Jon. 13, 6.). He was as fond of hunting as ever (wiiyte Melville, Digby Grand 11.). I was enamoured of an ass (shaksp., Mids. N. Dr. t, 1.). Flavia most tender if her oicn gond name (cowp. p. 11)8.). He was profoundly ignorant, greedy of booty, unscrupulous how he acquired it (scott, Qu. Duiw 6). Be not desiroux of his dainties (prov. 23, 3.). Studious of hit ease (cowp. p. 164.). Jealous if her dignity, Studious of home.. Of Earth suspicious (Torso, N. Th. 5, 460.). Emulous of the name of Brutus (Bm.w., Rienzi 2, H ) I am not ambitious of the honoured distinction, digito monstrari (scott, Bride of L. 1.). Envious of anothers virtue (middleton, Cicero). Patient of the failings of my friends (rowe, Fair Penit. 4, I.). Impatient of an injury (2, 2 ). The feeble old, indulgent of their ease (dryden). Men not uncommon in the last century, who were devoted to knowledge, yet disdainful of its fame (Bii.w., Eug. Aram 1, 4.). Combinations with other prepositions are not uncommon, as that of eager with for, after, on, from enamoured with on (Sh), envious with at, against, especially with regard to names of persons. Fond belonging to the verb fon, at the root of which the Old-norse form fdna, fatue se gerere lies, is perhaps the participial form fonnyd (in (wicltpb see Dial, of Craven I. 159.). The verb is found in OldEngl.: Sirs, ye /on (town. M. p. 94.) It does not seem to occur with a preposition. Greedy had originally the genitive; Angloaax.: Sum to ljt hafafll yodes yritdiy (gbkis, Ags. Poes. II. 364.). Many adjectives of Romance extraction have of as & substantive for de, as Old-Engl.: Of hire neoire love wel desirous (alis. 416); so French desireux, jealous, envkux offered de. Latin sitiens,
